

THE CATALYST

The scene fades up from black to show the rear parking lot of the DEFIANCE Wrestle-Plex as a “Earlier Today” graphic appears in the corner of the screen. The asphalt is glassed over and wet with the result of the last band of precipitation to pass through NOLA. From behind the camera Lance Warners voice can be heard, muffled and clearly not mic’d.

Lance Warner:

There he is.

With a splashing sound, Scott Douglas enters the frame; a faded duffle bag slung over his shoulder and a nearly finished cigarette held to his lips.

Lance:

Scott, can we get a quick word?

Scott tosses the butt aside as he responds.

Scott Douglas:

Sure.

The Southern Heritage Champion crosses the threshold of the open loading dock door and the camera operator pivots to keep him in frame and line up with Lance. The harsh change of light from the afternoon sun to the darker interior causes the camera to take a few seconds to adjust.

Lance:

What the ...

As Lance questions, Douglas can muster no more than an exacerbated grunt. The lighting adjusts as Douglas hits the concrete. The camera swings back up toward the reason.

Reapers. Purple, Yellow, and Orange..

Lance backs away calling out for DEFsec as this trio of Reapers put the boots to Scott Douglas.

Lance:

Security!!

The camera sticks with the action as Douglas is pulled to his feet by his hair and slung headlong into a pile of disassembled lighting gear propped against the wall. The collision causes stands and pipes to scatter and meet the concrete floor with resounding clinking.

Orange rushes in and puts the boots to Scott Douglas before Reaper Yellow follows quickly and lands a foot to the back of Douglas’ head as he struggles to recover. Reaper Purple reenters the frame with a steel chair in hand and motioning toward Douglas with his attention turned to Yellow.

Yellow attempts to hoist Douglas to his feet as a few more pieces of rigging and gear are cast one way or another, adding to the overall cacophony of this brutal attack. Yellow’s attempts are thwarted by Douglas’ inability to remain on his feet. Finally Orange helps hold him up.

Yellow casts his gaze toward Purple as if to say, “take the shot.” holds Douglas by the back of his jacket like the nape of a dog. Douglas’ eyes slowly begins to roll back to their proper place as Purple cocks back.

Purple swings and just as Yellow pulls away, not to have his arms or hands caught in the collision, and the SoHer expertly blocks the chair with his face.

Lights out. Not the actual lights - Douglas'.

The Reapers exit frame with the clang of the discarded steel chair on the concrete floor.

The camera focuses in on Scott Douglas laid out, one leg still bent underneath himself, amidst the loose gear scattered in the melee.

DEFSec arrives on scene just in time to do nothing more than call for DEFMed.

The screen fades to black and gives way to the DEFtv Opening Sequence.

Angus:

Coming up!? We STARTED the show with the demonic carebear click beating the shit out of Scott Douglas! [sighs] ... it's going to be a good night, Keeps.

DDK:

That is correct, Angus. Earlier today - Scott Douglas was accosted upon his arrival at the DEFIANCE Wrestle-Plex by three members of The Kabal, or Reaper Co ... whatever you want to call them. Which, based on last week and the interaction Douglas had with Reaper Co - seconds after laying out a challenge to Mikey Unlikely for ACTS of DEFIANCE, one has to wonder how this might affect the proposed match.

Angus:

Which!? McFuckass verses SLC Punk or that Red one challenging for the SoHer here tonight!?

"Hello? Hello are you there?"

Angel looks back at Aleczander with a confused look on his face.

"Stop annoying them. If they're there, they will come to the door."

Flex looks out into the crowd with a Flex. Just as he turns around CL smashes him in the corner. He begins to unload on Flex with a variety of lefts and rights, ending with a toss halfway across the ring! Flex quickly gets to his feet, and CL moves in. Kruger starts to throw punches and trying to mount a offense against the seven footer. As he drives the champion back, he goes off the ropes with some momentum and clotheslines the big man.

DDK:

New plan Flex!

Angus:

Its like he ran right into a brick wall.

He does not budge, Flex tries again and pushes the big man back but still hasn't gotten him off his feet. Flex tries once more and is quickly met with a big boot to the face! Crimson grabs Flex by the hair, and Flex rakes the eyes of Crimson! He then motions to the crowd he is going to try and body slam the three hundred and forty eight pounder.

DDK:

Flex looking to show everyone here in the WrestlePlex his strength. Can he do it?

Angus:

Flex stop trying to showboat so much!

Flex tries to body slam CL, but Crimson slams a clubbing forearm to the back of Flex sending him down. Crimson picks him up and lifts him up on his shoulder and delivers a yokosuka cutter! CL looks down at Flex in pain but trying to get to his feet. The seven footer lets him get to his hands and knees and then delivers a elbow drop to the lower back of Flex!

DDK:

Crimson dropping all of that three hundred and forty eight pound frame on the back of Kruger. Flex needs to find another way around trying to attack head on.

Angus:

Ya, think. Clearly CL is not a man you attack head on.

Kruger drops quickly to the mat. CL gets to his feet and lifts Flex once more to his feet throws his head between his legs and lifts him up into that skyscraper high angle powerbomb! Flex hits the mat on the back of his neck and Crimson just puts his shoulder in the back of Flex's knee as he goes for the cover.

The fans here at the WrestlePlex jump to their feet as the music of Oscar burns blares throughout the arena.

DDK:

These fans are on their feet here comes Twists and Turns, the only man Crimson has been ignoring for months now.

Angus:

Oscar the gullible loser, honestly Oscar do you really think his answer has changed?

DEFBACK

Crimson looks toward the entranceway. The fans jump to their feet as Burnsie steps from behind the curtain! Oscar without fear walks towards the ring, knowing full well what's waiting for him when he gets there. He has on his "Hi. I Like Graps." shirt with what looks to be some tape on his shoulder - no doubt a reminder the beatings Crimson Lord has been handing out to him.

Angus:

Stop ducking him and FIGHT, Crimson Lord! You're such a badass, but Burns has been the one guy you've been ducking!

DDK:

Oscar has been CL's punching bag as of late. The man refuses to give up on his quest to get Crimson to give him a shot at the championship! And after what happened after he defeated Burns' friend, Elise Ares... you know he wants payback.

Crimson watches Burns enter the ring and walk over toward him. Burns doesn't look the least bit intimidated. As his music cuts, Burns looks up at the monster. Jon takes a microphone from a DEFIANCE crew member outside. He hands it to CL, who just stares down at Oscar breathing more than Oscar at this moment.

Crimson:

Now what do you want? Have you come for your bi-weekly beating?

Burns shakes his head and points right at the WrestleUTA World Championship on his shoulder.

Oscar Burns:

You know DAMN well what I'm out here for, mate. I figure your answer hasn't changed, but neither has mine. I want YOU in this ring for that title and I won't leave until I get my shot.

Crimson Lord smirks at the prospect of Burns and even lets out a scary-sounding laugh.

Crimson:

You know your persistent I'll give you that, but when are you going to get it through your head you are not even in my league.

The Technical Spectacle cuts him off.

Oscar Burns:

MATE, IT'S TIME YOU SHUT THE FUCK UP!

"RRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!"

The crowd goes nuts! Crimson Lord is almost surprised by Burns' actions at this point, but the New Zealander is clearly fed up.

Angus:

DDK:

Wow. Burns has been through the wringer in the last few weeks and isn't keen on taking no for an answer any longer.

Oscar Burns:

Here's where things aren't adding up for me, mate... you've beaten everybody that's fought you and that's quite a list. Elise Ares, The D, Rich Mahogany, Reinhardt Hoffman and even Bronson Box. But when I challenge you... little old Burnsie... you turn away. You keep SAYING that it's because I'm not a threat to you, but if I'm not, mate...

As he has in the past, he inches closer to Crimson Lord showing no fear from the giant menace when most others would.

Oscar Burns:

...Then why not just give me the match I want and get me out of your hair? If I'm not worth your time, then I wouldn't last five minutes with you, right? [raising a finger] Or... or is there another reason? Is it really that you don't think I'm a threat? Or is it that everybody you've faced, mate, that you've NEVER taken on someone with MY abilities?

The Kiwi continues looking right up at Crimson Lord.

Oscar Burns:

You're big, you're bad and you're dangerous. Probably one of the most dangerous UTA blokes or you wouldn't have that title... but here's something you may not have counted on mate... you've never fought somebody with my skillset. You're big, but the thing is Crimson is that EVERYBODY is the same size once they're on their back. I won't mince words, you've been handing me my own ass for several weeks. Each time you do it, I keep coming back and coming back and coming back. And that irks you, doesn't it? It irks you because nobody else has done it like I have. You beat people and move on, but I haven't moved on from you because the hard truth, mate, is that you HAVEN'T beaten me. And I know in my heart of hearts that if I fought you with that title on the line, you wouldn't have it.

Now Burns confidently points at the title while the crowd cheers along with the DEFIANCE star.

Oscar Burns:

So what's it going to be, mate? Are you feeling stroppy and want to shut me up for good? Or are you gonna prove me right and deny me again like UTA's biggest BITCH?

"OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOHHHHHHHHHHH!"

The crowd responds in kind while Burns almost braces himself for a fight in case any of his words set off the dangerous UTA World Champion. CL steps from the face to face with Burns, he looks at Jon for a moment before returning his glare to the unflinching New Zealander. He slowly raises the microphone to his mouth.

Crimson:

Crimson snickers at Oscar and then walks up to him looking down at him.

Crimson:

Crimson moves the microphone back to his mouth.

Crimson:

Ok, boy you got your five minutes. Right here and right now!

Huge ovation for the impromptu match!

Crimson:

Oscar pumps his fist and out to the crowd as well to a huge chorus of cheers for the possible match up.

Crimson:

Oscar looks back at Crimson Lord.

Crimson:

Burns falls to a knee, but Crimson Lord stays on him only to deliver a vicious knee strike right to the gut that doubles him over. Burns coughs for air after it knocks the wind out of him, but Crimson Lord doesn't give him any reprieve as he picks him up and THROWS him into a corner with relative ease.

He points to the clock on the DEFIATron showing that there's still roughly three minutes and forty-five seconds to go. Crimson Lord tilts Oscar's head towards the counter on display and yells in his face.

THE WALK

DDK:

I'm being told we may have an update on Scott Douglas.

Cut a random hallway in the backstage area of the DEFIANCE Wrestle-Plex. The camera turns a corner to reveal, it's operator is trailing Scott Douglas - who, is bandaged and walking with a limp.

The camera follows at a distance as Douglas staggers forward.

DDK:

Well, less and update and more of a sighting, I suppose.

Angus:

That's all the update you need, Keebs! He looks like shit ... I mean, more than normal!

Up ahead Douglas turns off into a room and a second later a loud commotion is heard. The camera operator picks up pace and hustles toward the door. The camera shakes and sways with his gate.

Angus:

We're missing it!

The camera makes it nearly to the door as one of the Reapers comes flying out of it and crashing into the opposite hallway wall. The operator stops dead in his tracks. Douglas re-appears from the doorway stalking toward the Reaper as he is crawling to his feet.

DDK:

Scott Douglas is out for retribution!

Angus:

Yeah, but which taste of the Rainbow does he have!

DDK:

I don't think he cares!

Douglas reaches Reaper and grabs ahold of his mask. Reaper attempts to strike but it is blocked and the masked man receives one instead.

Douglas begins to drag Reaper down the hallway. Both men stagger, hugging the wall, as they inch toward Douglas' destination.

DDK:

Reaper, after several attempts, lands a solid shot and stuns the SoHer, who loses his grip of the normally glowing mask. Douglas staggers back and Reaper takes a second swing, but Douglas is able to duck and charge forward with a knee to the gut - pinning Reaper against the wall again. Douglas lays in an elbow to the mask which seems to hurt him more than the masked wearer - but it's enough to direct his would be opponent through a door opening marked "Staging."

DDK:

Douglas and Reaper stumble into the dimly lit staging position that precedes the entrance ramp. The camera follows closely as the brawl/walk continues toward the curtain.

At the curtain, Reaper tries again to free himself of Douglas' grasp and the pair shoot it out for a moment in the dimly lit staging area. Production staff scatter as they flail from on side of the small area to the other.

Douglas is shoved back into a row of chairs lined up against the wall and causes quite the clatter. Reaper Red stalks toward him but Douglas pops up and lunges forward tackling Red through the curtain and out on the stage.

The camera cuts to an angle positioned on the rampway and catches the literal fall out. Douglas drags himself to his feet and pulls Reaper Red along for the ride. At Douglas', physically controlled, direction ... the pair head toward the ring.

DDK:

Douglas regroups, being held up by nothing more than the ropes, mere feet from the original collision in the corner. Reaper Red steps back and with some momentum lays in a hip check that sends the champ between the top and middle rope. Douglas crashes to the floor and almost immediately attempts to pull himself to his feet. In the ring, Doyle begs off Reaper Red to no avail.

Red exits the ring and Benny Doyle begins his count. Just as Douglas makes it to his feet - a big right hand turns him around and sends him toward the ring post. There, Douglas tries to catch himself but Red follows and after a second strike, which sends him rounding the post; whips Douglas from one corner to the other and the SoHer goes sailing into the ring steps.

Red refuses to relent. He follows, pulling Douglas back to his feet instantly. Red walks Scott nearly the length of the ring apron before reversing their direction and again ... whipping him into the same ring steps. This time the steps come loose from the ring post and separate into two pieces with a cacophony of clanging.

Doyle is at eight and Red rolls in the ring to break the count as Douglas writhes in pain on the ringside floor. Doyle begins the count on Douglas.

Angus:

You don't poke the bear, Keebs! And that crazy broad is always speaking in Russian .. you CERTAINLY don't poke the GORRAM Russian BEAR!

Doyle's count is at six as Douglas makes it to his knees and is reaching for the bottom rope to pull himself up. Red reaches through the top and middle rope and grabs Douglas by his hair, assisting his return to the ring. Doyle's count ends at almost eight. Red wraps his arm around Douglas' neck and attempts and Reverse STO but Douglas is able to hold onto the top rope and Red takes the bump solo.

Still winded from the interaction outside the ring and compounded by the night's events; the beaten and bandaged SoHer hangs from his right arm on the top rope, still catching his breath. Red gets back to his feet and the frustration is obvious even behind the unlit mask. He goes right back on the attack and grabs Douglas, sending him for the ride. Douglas reverses and keeps a grip on Red's wrist - following in close with a knee to the gut.

Red's wrist still in hand, Douglas pulls him off the ropes and starts laying in forearms, pulling Reaper toward him with each blow. After the third, he leaves enough slack in their hand to wrist connection for Red to fall back to the ropes. Douglas whips Red across the ring and as Reaper Red returns the Southern Heritage Champion grasps Reaper Red and tosses him overhead with a explosive belly to belly suplex.

On the ramp, Purple and Yellow intend to intervene but are held back by Orange with his arms outstretched between them; one gloved hand on each chest.

Douglas collapses and hits the mat nearly in unison with Reaper Red. Benny Doyle as confused and frustrated with this match as ever hesitates but begins the standing ten count.

Angus:

Not like this! JESUS!

On three, Douglas is attempting to get back to his feet. Red, flat on his stomach, reaches up and grabs the bottom rope. Orange continues to hold Purple and Yellow at bay. Doyle ends his count as Reaper Red makes it to a knee with the assistance of the ropes. Douglas isn't far behind but his first attempt finds him stumbling and falling back to the mat.

DDK:

Looks like the Reaper contingent is primed and ready if Scott Douglas were to pull this off ...

Angus:

Douglas manages to catch the foot at the last second and throws it off - sending Reaper Red spinning. As dead eyed Red makes it back around, Douglas kicks him in the gut and grabs the front face lock. He tosses Red's arm over his neck and hoists him up.

On the ramp, Orange - no longer holds back the Reaper Co and instead points toward the ring. Yellow and Purple head toward the ring in haste. Orange follows behind as in the ring Scott Douglas slams the helmeted head of Red to the mat with his signature Fisherman Suplex Brainbuster.

With a few strikes and twists, the Southern Heritage Champion finds himself trapped between the top and bottom rope.

Angus:

The time keeper continues to ring the bell in an attempt to call some order to this devolving shit show. OG Envy... All these extra colors, Keeps... It was bound to happen.

Yellow whips Red back first into the corner and is instantly met with a running high knee to the side of the jaw. Purple whips Red to the middle of the ring and into the hands of Yellow who grabs Red's head, leaps and drives him face first to the canvas.

DDK:

I don't understand this, why are the Reapers attacking their own?

The blow to the mask seems to have shaken something loose and Red's previously unlit eyes light up Green.

DDK:

Wait ... is that?

Yellow holds Green up while Purple continues to bash the newly lit helmet until it obviously is affecting his hand. Yellow lets go of Green and he drops to his knees and clearly out of it. Yellow, with a few latches un.masks Green to reveal ...

DDK:

Kerry Kuroyama!

Angus:

Oh shit! Douglas just spent the better part of a hour beating the SHIT out of his friend! This is great!

Douglas takes notice and his eyes widen with surprise. He struggles against the ropes as Orange approaches him and slaps him across the face. Yellow hoists up Kerry Kuroyama to the centre of the ring and holds his head up in front of Reaper Orange, who stares back for a few moments before delivering a huge slap to the face. Orange turns toward Douglas to enjoy his infuriated response.

After a split second Orange takes off for the ropes and comes back with a huge cutter on Kerry.... And that's when the jig is up!

DDK:

Wait a minute, I know that move...

Angus:

OH FOR FUCKS SAKE!

When Reaper Orange stands back up, so does Reaper Yellow and Reaper Purple. The three stand in unison, turn towards the hard camera, and reach for their masks. Almost at once they come off with a flash. The arena lights up with boo'dom!

DDK:

That's Mikey Unlikely, Kendrix, and Scott Stevens! Team WrestleUTA has disguised themselves as Reaper Co, and have laid waste to both Kerry Kuroyama as well as Scott Douglas tonight!

Angus:

So you're telling me that was McFuckass and Crew in the early part of the show attacking Douglas?

DDK:

It certainly seems that way partner.

DEFSEC runs to the ring, as Mikey and company see them coming, he slaps at his teammates and they bail from the ring, very happy with the work they have done. Happy with Kerry on the mat holding his face. The group heads up the entrance way as Scott Douglas is finally set free by the security team along with some officials.

DDK:

Scott Douglas doing the noble thing here, and checking up on his friend....

Angus:

He should be chasing down Mikey and his group of Merry Women! Instead he's checking on a man who's been mind fucked, and now torn to pieces.

Douglas looks up the ramp at Mikey and has a deep anger in his eyes. He looks concerned for Kerry, and yet all the while, it seems he's all too aware of whos to blame.

DDK:

Last week Scott Douglas laid down the challenge to Mikey Unlikely for Acts of DEFIANCE, I think he just got his answer!

Cut to the next segment.

Keeping Tabs

Cayle Murray is alone.

The wounded FIST of DEFIANCE walks the DEFArena's halls without allies. His brother, Andy, and training partner, Mascara De Muerte IV, are out for the foreseeable future. PCPs? They've got their own business to attend to.

Everyone else? Lord knows.

A dangerous move to swim shark-infested waters without a safety net, but these are his waters. Hiding is a victory for WrestleUTA. Showing weakness is a victory for WrestleUTA. The Scot walks DEFIANT.

There's a limp in his step and a healing welt under an eye. If he were shirtless, you'd see reams of bandages around his ribs - a huge target for men like Jay Harvey, but what else can be done?

He looks weary, too. Weeks of constant title defences have taken a toll, and while he wears the belt with pride, there's no masking the impact that UTA's constant chase is having on him. When will it end? Not 'til one side completely falls apart. It's that simple.

"You look like shit."

Well, that voice was unexpected.

Cayle turns on a dime. Dan Ryan is standing there, a pseudo-serious look on his face. He's business casual, clearly not here for fisticuffs, but just the same, caution is usually a good idea.

Cayle Murray:

Thanks...

The FIST tenses up, assuming the worst.

Cayle Murray:

Bounty's already claimed tonight, big man. Head back to your shadows.

Dan Ryan:

I see that being on top hasn't improved your manners. This is a very nice shirt, Cayle. I'm not here for any bounty. And really, do you think I need the promise of money to beat someone up? I'm just here to check on you again. It's been awhile, you know.

Cayle Murray:

This again. Are we doing the concern speech again, because I can't help but feel like we covered this ground a few months ago...

Dan Ryan:

First of all, it wasn't a speech. It was a carefully worded tender admonition to take care of yourself. It was like your mom's shepherd's pie, or whatever the fuck you people eat, meant to give the warm and fuzzy feeling that only comes with a well placed word from someone with an interest in your welfare.

Cayle Murray:

Ah yes, your "interest in my welfare.."

He lets the sentences drift away, then snaps back to it.

Cayle Murray:

Enough of this, Dan. That might have been halfway believable if you hadn't sold us out, but even then I'd have my doubts.

Dan Ryan: [Ryan cocks his head to the side slightly]

Now hold on, that's not really fair of you to say. Suggesting I've sold someone out assumes that I've betrayed some sort of ideal that I've professed previously, when the fact of the matter is that you have no idea how big this picture really is, what's at stake, or what I'm trying to protect. Do you really think this is simply about Mikey coming to me with some sort of monetary offer? Because let's be clear, Mikey Unlikely cannot offer me anything that I don't already have. No, it's a little bigger than that, and all you really need to know is I need you to remain healthy and up to the task at hand.

Cayle Murray:

Aye, well I think I'll start giving a damn about all of that as soon as your little plan doesn't involve the lot of us getting our brains bashed in by all of these UTA goons while you stand next to Mikey up on a stage, or back at your compound or wherever the hell else you've been gone off to for the last two months. When your plan involves doing something to help the people actually fighting for DEFIANCE, then... I'll listen.

Dan Ryan: [smiling briefly]

Fair enough. Hey, good luck out there. You know I'm pulling for you.

Cayle shakes his head, turns and walks back down the hall as Ryan watches him go.

DEF VS. UTA TWELVE MAN TAG

CUZ I'M A WINNER.

The boos start almost immediately as WrestleUTA owner Mikey Unlikely's face fills your screen as well as the DEFiatron. Mikey's pearly whites are on full display as he chuckles.

Mikey Unlikely:

It's been a long time coming, and it's nice to know that after tonight... the FIST of DEFIANCE will FINALLY be coming over to WrestleUTA.

As soon as the last words of Mikey's sentence leave his mouth, we pan slightly to the right and in walks "The Natural One" THE Jay Harvey and Catalina. Harvey is dressed in a fine suit and Catalina in a hot purple number. Harvey removes his European sunglasses.

THE Jay Harvey:

Mikey... you are one hundred percent right, tonight I will capture the FIST of DEFIANCE. The struggle to claim the main prize of this dump will be over.

Cameras zoom out to show not only Unlikely, Harvey, and Catalina but Jack Harmen just to the left of the screen, behind Unlikely.

THE Jay Harvey:

You know Mikey... my first instinct after I win the FIST of DEFIANCE is to toss it into the trash where it belongs.

Mikey Unlikely nods his head, understanding Harvey's point. Harmen seems to concur.

THE Jay Harvey:

But that wouldn't be right. I'm going to wear that title around my waist and show the entire DEFIANCE roster what a REAL champion, what a REAL wrestler looks like.

We zoom into a close up of Harvey who continues to speak.

THE Jay Harvey:

Cayle Murray... when you look up "fighting champion" in the dictionary you'll see a picture of Cayle Murray. All who have taken on the champion have left empty-handed.

Harvey looks up at the ceiling for a moment before coming back down and glaring right into the filming camera lens.

THE Jay Harvey:

But you've never faced anyone like THE Jay Harvey, have you Cayle? No, no, no... You've only faced the clowns that call DEFIANCE home. You've faced men who have no business stepping into a wrestling ring. Men who have peaked many, many, many moons ago. You've never gone one on one with the most marvelous man to grace God's green earth!

Cameras zoom out to pick up the whole bunch.

THE Jay Harvey:

And... no matter who might claim to be the real champion (Harvey lets out a chuckle). A REAL champion would walk around with the FIST of DEFIANCE on their waist. I know your body is bruised, your body is beaten... but Cayle Murray, that fighting spirit is going to cost you everything later tonight.

Harvey pats Mikey on the shoulder.

THE Jay Harvey:

You're looking at the next FIST of DEFIANCE... cuz I'm a winner. It's what I do. It doesn't matter if you animals like it or not, (Harvey looks directly into the camera) you're ALL going to have to learn to live with it.

Mikey starts clapping, which brings the others to start up. Harmen comes in and pats Harvey on the back.

Mikey Unlikely:

The confidence, the look, the suit... this is what a champion should look like, how a champion should act.

Catalina rubs both Harvey's shoulders. Mikey is once again all smiles as him and Harvey shake hands. The scene soon fades and the show continues on.

OVERPOWERING THE ENEMY

DDK:

Up next is our main event of the evening as Cayle Murray defends the... hang on, I'm getting something from the back...

Angus:

Why don't they ever talk to me?

DDK:

Folks, we've gotta jump backstage for a moment, something's happening...

We cut backstage to what essentially looks like a mugging as Cristiano Caballero, Hoyt Williams, Dave Thompson and Leo Brown surround someone and stop away at them. As the legs move it's clear the man on the floor has a beard, is heavily tattooed and is wearing purple tights.

DDK:

That's Butcher Victorious!

Dave Thompson breaks away from the attack and grabs a nearby chair. When he gets back the assault slows for a moment as he wraps the chair around Butcher's leg and stomps on it! Victorious howls out in pain as the attack picks up again, but it doesn't last long as Nicky Synz and Thugs 4 Hire hit the scene. As soon as Charlie Ace spots them coming he shouts at his boys to go, and the five of them sprint away from the scene. Byrd and Holt continue to chase Aces Wild as Nicky slows up to check on Butcher Victorious.

Butcher Victorious:

Ahhhhh! My leg! My leg!

Nicky Synz:

Get someone over here!

Butcher Victorious:

My leg! Oh God!

Nicky Synz:

Damnit, somebody get a medic!

Several employees descend on the scene almost at the same time and start tending to Butcher Victorious. Nicky tries to help his friend and keep him calm as we cut back to the announce table.

DDK:

You've got to be kidding me...

Angus:

I bet Butcher is regretting what he said earlier.

DDK:

Angus, that was a sickening four on one assault! Butcher was right on the mark with everything he said earlier and Aces Wild might have just broken his leg because of it!

Angus:

Maybe he'll keep his mouth shut next time then...

CAYLE MURRAY Å© VS. THE JAY HARVEY

DDK:

10 weeks, five shows, five FIST of DEFIANCE defences. Folks, Cayle Murray has been through the wringer lately. Our champion has been pushed to the brink both physically and mentally, and his latest challenge awaits.

Angus:

THE Jay Harvey - another no-good WrestleUTA mormon shitbag. This guy has some pedigree, though. He has tangled with Cayle's absent brother, Andy, in the past. Between the ropes, he's extremely well-rounded, and if he weren't aligned with Mikey Unlikely's merry band of cunts, he'd make a fine DEFIANCE roster member. But nah, fuck him.

DDK:

This came together when Harvey issued the challenge following Cayle's draw with Scott Stevens two weeks ago. He's a different kind of wrestler to those Murray has faced recently, and thus poses a completely different challenge, but again, we must stress the FIST's declining physical condition...

Angus:

Poor little squid's barely holding himself together at the moment, but gorram it if he ain't putting these bastards in their place! Long may it continue, and long may he reign...

♪ "Natural One" by The Folk Implosion ♪

The song is in full swing as Catalina walks through the curtain, with a big smile on her face. She turns and extends her arm as "The Natural One" Jay Harvey steps out onto the ramp. Harvey raises his arms into the air as he winks at Catalina. The crowd boos as the two walk down the aisle.

DDK:

Jay Harvey has his chance to become FIST of DEFIANCE, something that would completely change the complexion of this company.

When the two finally get to the ring, Jay Harvey walks up the ring steps and onto the apron. He sits on the middle rope and signals for Catalina to enter the ring. As she does she gives Harvey a kiss on the lips, shaking her ass in the process.

Angus:

Thinking of Harvey being the "big dawg" around here makes me want to vomit.

Jay Harvey comes to a halt in his corner and gets one last kiss from Catalina before she exits the ring; "The Natural One" wipes his feet clean as the fans continue to boo.

♪ "Red In Tooth And Claw" by Rosetta ♪

The FIST's entrance theme erupts throughout the building, and the fans are in raptures as he appears against the perfect white backdrop. Decked out in championship attire, Cayle Murray walks down to the ring, full of bile. He's all banged up, with a big ream of tape around his ribs. Nonetheless, he bumps fists on his way, then rolls under the bottom rope.

The two grapplers take their positions in the spotlight for customary championship-style intros.

Here we go! Time for our young Squid overlord to kill himself another UTA bug!

DDK:

I don't know, Angus. Harvey's a tremendous competitor. Cayle's physical condition diminishes with every passing match. This could be trouble...

The bell rings, and it's time to dance.

Both wrestlers are pensive at first. Though Jay moves with swagger and confidence, he's smart enough not to strike too early. Murray, usually keen to assert his early-match dominance, is a little more reserved than usual.

They lock up. Harvey wins the first test of strength, pushing the FIST back against the ropes, slapping his taped ribs on the break. He holds his hands up innocently as Slater admonishes him. Cayle doesn't rush in, and instead moves back to the centre, into another lock-up. A minute of solid back-and-forth jostling follows before Cayle slips out the back, kicking Harvey in the kidneys.

The FIST looks for another tie up, but Harvey boots in the the gut, then clubs the back of his head a couple of times. He pushes Murray back against the ropes then peels a couple of chops off, his hand landing across the taped ribs. No stinging skin damage, but Cayle definitely feels the impact on his busted chest, and stumbles away. Harvey keeps grinding away with fists and elbows, then takes the champion to the corner, stomping down on his gut. He walks away, bathing in The Faithful's hatred.

DDK:

Textbook start here, but Cayle doesn't look too great. Harvey is smartly targeting his opponent's weakspots, and the FIST really needs to get a foothold.

Angus:

Damn right he does! Of all the Utah thundercunts to challenge for the belt so far, I think Jay's the one I most want to kill, as good as he is...

Jay's ascendancy continues. He eventually gets Cayle on the ground, working a few chained submission holds. After a while he rolls the champion towards the body bottom, rolls him onto his side, pushes his back against the bottom 'buckle, then baseball slides into the ribs. Cayle coughs and sputters, then rolls out of the ring, feeling all kinds of pain in his chest. Harvey takes a moment or two to pose and gloat.

'The Natural One' gets tired as Slater's count hits three. He goes out the ring and after the champ, but Cayle bursts into life, nailing him with a forearm flurry then a boot to the gut. Murray tries to whip Harvey against the barricade, but this gets reversed... only for the FIST to hop onto its edge, then leap back with a flying forearm! The Faithful pop like crazy, and while the impact hurts Cayle, he lets the adrenaline take over and is quickly back on his feet, throwing Harvey into the post!

DDK:

Ohhhhhh! An uncharacteristic display of viciousness from the FIST there!

Angus:

NO! KICKOUT!

'Starbreaker' goes for the formula that has helped him to victory against each of his past four opponents: attacking the leg. He ties Harvey's left limb up, but is only able to hold it for a few moments. Jay's own technicality allows him to ease Cayle's kneebar, but the FIST regains control, scoots up, and slides into a grounded ankle lock.

Harvey fights against it. His mastery of leverage allows him to ease the pain with a quick twist, and he's able to work his way towards the ropes. Murray gives him room to get up, before coming back forward, hitting the challenge with a running European uppercut. Jay gets whipped into the corner, eats another running European, before Cayle locks his arms up, slamming him in the middle of the ring with a beautiful Butterfly Suplex.

No pin attempt from Murray. Clutching his ribs, he rises to his feet, then takes a moment to recover. He's soon charging to the ropes and coming back with a Penalty Kick, but Harvey absorbs the blow, clutching Murray's shin as it connects with his chest. Jay rises. 'The Natural One' gets back up, winks to the crowd, and flashes them a smug smirk. He eventually gets back to it. Stomps rain down on Cayle's chest: a simple approach, but an effective one. Murray tries to roll to the ropes, but this works to Harvey's favour, as he's able to grab the top rope for extra leverage. Brian Slater forces the break after a while, though, saving the FIST.

Jay takes Murray back to his feet. A few more chops land, before Harvey sets about tearing the bandages away. He gets a single ream off before Cayle fires back to life, cracking his opponent with forearms, and even a shoot headbutt. He runs to the ropes, comes back, but damn near has his head taken off by a Harvey clothesline, though both collapse to the mat.

Harvey is inevitable up first, and goes back to work with another bluster of stomps. He takes Murray off the cold, hard apron, lifts him up, then drops his ribs down across an outstretched knee, inflicting all kinds of punishment on the faltering champion.
